Avenue and 113th Street, amounced to-day that it has completed plans morning to consider complaints Barbite, Thomas F. Fennell and Jerome L. Cheney and Secretary Fran-

At the close of the hearing it was suggested that a committee be apointed from the complainants apointed from the complainants against the service to investigate the piant of the company, and Mr. Bethel sald he would be glad to welcome them. The chairman said such a committee would be appointed and spat there would be a further hearing when the comittee reported.

Among those who appeared to makecomplaints against the telephone service were stuart Browne of the New York Real Estate Association: Franklin Taylor of No. 233 the New York Real Estate Association; Franklin Taylor of No. 233 Broadway; M. H. Winkler, No. 53 Wall Street, representative of the Louncil of Jewish Women; Assem-blyman Edward F. Healy and Mark blyman Edward F. Healy and Mark Goldberg and S. C. Meade of the Merchants' Association. Corporation Counsel Stanton appeared for the city and Vice President F. H. Bethel appeared for the telephone company. Stuart Browne said the Phone company was not paying its girls satisfactory wages and the girls were democrately giving wrong numbers. The Telephone Company represen-tative denied this, saying the war-had demoralized the service, He ad-mitted that six per cent. of the nummitted that sax per cent. of the num-bers gotten by the girls were wrong, but said this was often the fault of the subscriber, who did not give the number clearly or know it correctly himself.

Mr. Bethel said the company was planning additional buildings, and he noped by September the service would be much improved. He cited figures to prove that although telephone caus to prove that although telephone catis were generally lighter in the summer than during the early months of the year, the reverse had been the case this year, and calls were more numerous now than they were in January or February. This, he said, was partly responsible for the poor service.

Franklin Hawley Janes of No. 154
Nassau Street suggested that the company be barred from refusing service to a subscriber because of the subscriber's refusal to pay his monthly bill on the ground that his monthly statement from the company contains errors, and that the burden of any legal action arising be piaced on the company.

EVADES 10-CENT FARE TEST IN TRIAL OF CONEY CASES

Sidney Kaufman of No. 1254 41st Street, David Garrson of No. 1262 46th Street, and Samuel Soracki of No. 1261 46th Street and Samuel Soracki of No. 1261 41st Street, all of Brooklyn, were arraigned to-day before Magistrate O'Neill in the Coney Island Court charged with disorderly conduct. These are the members of the Borough Park Heights Civic Association who on May II were arrested by a B. R. T. special policemen charged with refusing to pay the second fare demanded. Magistrate O'Neill announced that he would not test the legality of the ten-cent fare, but would try the case on the merits of the charge of disorderly conduct. Robert Warner, B. R. T. attorney, said that the public is not interested in the five-cent fare question, and that this was a case gaining publicity for the defendants and their organization. Magistrate O'Neill reserved decision.
